FEATURED WINERY ~ RATHJEN CELLARS

Rathjen Cellars is a farm-based winery established on the Saanich Peninsula in 2016. They are passionate about bringing under-utilized farmland back to health and into production. Drawing inspiration from Old World traditions, they use minimal intervention in the cellar to create wines that truly reflect the coastal climate.

Rathjen Cellars Traditional Method Sparkling Rosé, pinot noir 2019 Vancouver Island, British Columbia, Canada This vintage Sparkling Rosé is made from Pinot Noir grapes grown on the Saanich Peninsula. Following the traditional method, wild yeast was used for both fermentations to create this lively, yet layered wine—a bubbly built for everyday and for special occasions.	17	71
Rathjen Cellars Wine Bunker White, Ortega/pinot gris/pinot auxerrois 2020 Vancouver Island, British Columbia, Canada Long before Rathjen Cellars, there was the Wine Bunker—a cramped, unfinished basement that served as a training ground for the art and craft of winemaking. This aromatic blend of Ortega, Pinot Gris and Auxerrois grapes grown on the Saanich Peninsula pays tribute to their humble beginnings. The Wine Bunker White is part of Rathjen Cellars' ongoing exploration into growing and making food-friendly wines that truly reflect Vancouver Islands' unique coastal climate.	11	45
Rathjen Cellars Wine Bunker Red, gamay noir/marechal foch/pinot noir 2020 Vancouver Island, British Columbia, Canada The Wine Bunker Red is a vibrant and charming blend of Gamay Noir, Marechal Foch and Pinot Noir grown in the Cowichan Valley and the Saanich Peninsula.	11	45
Rathjen Cellars Saison Vineyard Pinot Noir, 2019 Vancouver Island, British Columbia, Canada Dry-farmed at Saison Vineyard in the Cowichan Valley, this 2019 Pinot Noir is a blend of four Dijon clones. Fermented with wild yeast and aged in neutral French oak puncheons, this wine reflects the unique growing condition and season and presents a true expression of varietal and place.	17	71
